

Birmingham TreePeople

The Droplet

Issue 03
07/08/23

iTree Eco 2023 Survey: Completed

Photo provided by Krish, urban forest volunteer

As of roughly 8pm on the 2nd September (the survey began on 14th July), the iTree Eco 2023 citizen science survey, carried out by our incredible team of urban forest volunteers, was COMPLETED! It has taken our dedicated urban forest volunteers a mere two weeks to survey the plots around Birmingham.

A huge congrats to the volunteers, who have completed the survey faster than any of its kind previously. That's no mere feat, and we want to make sure they know the important role they have played during this project, and the wonderful things we can do for Birmingham's urban forest with the results.

BTP have a stand at the upcoming MAC's Big Green Weekender, 17th September, alongside BOSF. Come and say hello!

BTP Summer Social, August 13th

Just in case any of you wonderful TreePeople missed the announcement of this event, we have included it here, to make sure we see as many faces as we can.

Come along, volunteers and newcomers alike, to the Summer Social that BTP are holding at Winterbourne House and Garden Horticulture School, for a jam-packed day of talks, workshops and activities with the Trustees and new employees of the charitable organisation.

Find out more about urban tree management, get some updates on the Street Tree and iTree Eco surveys (see left), and there's even an L2 Arboriculture awards ceremony.

There will be some food and drink provided, and the event is free to attend, so what's stopping you? We look forward to seeing you at our social event! Friends and family are welcome, but the cake is first-come-first-served!

BTP's Summer Social!
The BTP Summer Social 2023 Educational Meet
13th August | Winterbourne Botanic Gardens

Tea, coffee, & cake

Meet & greets, current/future projects, talks & presentations on urban trees, street trees, Tree Trails, iTree survey, UFA, and an L2 award ceremony!