Upcoming Tree-related Events

Not only did Katy Hawkins (BTP Communications Officer) run the Tree Equity walk and talk – by the representatives of the Urban Forest Accelerator team for the Urban Tree Festival on Thursday 16th – here, but on the 30th May she is also helping our planting partners again at Nechells POD by running a storytelling workshop under the canopy of Nechells' beautiful trees.

Parents should accompany their children, for this nature-themed picnic and workshop, aimed at raising young awareness of the benefits of trees and green spaces! So what's your favourite story about trees? No need to book and the event is free to join, so we would love to see you there at the end of the month!

Picnic food and blankets provided! No need to book, just turn up. Children should be accompanied by parents.

Katy is also teaming up with Lisa from Friends of Hodge Hill Common again for more nature-themed activities! They will be joint-hosting a sensory workshop, focusing on appreciating and caring for our trees, starting at Stevie Sweetgum we planted last year to begin Tree Week 2023, and the tree is currently thriving.

It's a fantastic feeling to continue our budding relationship with other community groups, whom we worked with to plant trees last season, who are abundantly passionate about their local greenery like we are. Join us on the 8th June, 2pm, for a mindful walk around the common, a beautiful pocket of green space in Hodge Hill, being looked after by these dedicated volunteers.

The Droplet is a fortnightly tree-formative flyer for our mailing list. The monthly newsletter, Birmingham Roots, is also available. Website | Facebook | Instagram | LinkedIn | Twitter
